A NATIVE'S CAREER

What Honesty and Hard Work Will Do.

How William Kamana Made His Way to Position and Competency

Wm. Kamana, the well-known Hawaiian, celebrates the 25th anniversary of his marriage today and in his happiness he gives this sort outline of his ups and downs through life in the hope of encouraging some young Hawaiian to manly effort.

Mr. Kamana was born at Waihee, Maui, of poor parents in the year 1854. He attended school up to 18 years of age, traveling daily four miles for instruction and paying his own tuition by manual labor. Leaving school at 18 years of age he went to work under contract on a sugar plantation at $10 per month. At the end of three years he was receiving $13 per month and had the confidence and good-will of his employers.

In 1879 he went to work as luna on the Oukala plantation of which Col. J. H. Soper afterwards became manager. He began work here at $35 per month and "found"; when he left six years later in 1885, his salary had been advanced to $60 and "found" per month.

In 1886, Col. J. H. Soper, who had become Marshal, and under whom Mr. Kamana worked at Oukala sent for him to come to Honolulu to fill the position of night-watchman of the Government building. Owing to the political changes of '87, Mr. Kamana was reduced to ordinary police under Marshal Kaulukou. Through obedience and faithfulness he soon reached step by step the police captaincy. Under the Marshalship of C. B. Wilson, Mr. Kamana once more lost his job through political changes.

Nothing daunted, Mr. Kamana, whose hands were always ready for any kind of work, went down to the wharves and handled freight for the steamers.

In 1891 he worked as freight hand for five or six months for the Oahu R. R. Co., then went to work on the sea-wall under Mr. McIntosh, then Superintendent of Public Works.

Mr. Kamana was soon afterwards recalled by Marshal Wilson to the Captaincy of Police which position he held up to the overthrow of the monarchy. Politics again buffeted him and he became a modest detective under general Marshal W. G. Ashley.

Soon after the late Judge Hitchcock became Marshal, Mr. Kamana was given the position of Captain of Guards and Turnkey at Oahu Prison, where he has advanced to the responsible position of Deputy-Jailer.

Mr. Kamana has in spite of many adverse conditions which do not exist today to the young Hawaiian, carved out for himself a most commendable and successful career and his life's example could be profitably followed by any young man. During his forty-five years of life-time he has been able by hard work, economy and self restraint to amass a modest fortune that could carry him comfortably through the rest of his life and, through fidelity to trust, has gained the confidence of all whom he has served under.

They Wear Medals.

Sergeant Wm. A. Hickey called at the Advertiser office last evening and in the course of conversation said, that among those who are with the 45th U. S. Volunteers are the following, who have seen service in the Spanish-American war, and who were with the 1st D. C. Volunteers, viz: Sergeant-Major Callahan, Sergeant Jim Shepley, Corporal Murray, and cooks Wm. A. Hickey and Smith, ranking sergeants. These men were all in the trenches before Santiago prior to the surrender of that city. All of the men are fine marksmen and wear medals of honor which were presented to them by President McKinley in Convention Hall at the city of Washington, D. C., on November 17, 1898.

Another Envoy.

And still another emissary has gone to Washington from Honolulu to swell the ranks of those who are looking after the interests of Hawaii when the bill comes up for hearing, and also those who are looking out for private interests and enterprises. This time it is Robert Wilcox, and his departure was unannounced, he having decided to go to the capital city at the eleventh hour, or just as the Coptic was ready to steam out. It is understood that he has gone to look after a number of private land interests, and also to assist Liliuokalani in her efforts to gain possession of the crown lands through Congress. Mr. E. C. Cayless, the local attorney, is already on the ground there lecturing upon the islands, and "Bob" will join forces with him.
